Missoula Maulers goalie Andy DiCristofaro has been named Northern Pacific Hockey League's Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts last weekend.

DiCristofaro, who earned the honor for the second time in as many months, turned aside 102 of the 107 shots he faced Friday and Saturday as the Maulers split a weekend series at Glacier Ice Rink with America West Division-leading Yellowstone.

On Friday his 48-save performance wasn't enough as Missoula fell 4-1 to the Quake. The next night, DiCristofaro stopped 54 of 55 shots as the Maulers beat the Quake 5-1 for their first win over Yellowstone this season.
